ABOUT THIS LECTURE

The Gifford Foundation established a Distinguished Lectureship in Real Property in 2002 to honor David L. Callies, the Benjamin A. Kudo Professor of Law, and Jerry M. Hiatt ’77, prominent Hawai’i attorney, for their superior work in the field of real property.

The Gifford Foundation is a charitable organization established by Jack Gifford, the Chairman, President, and Chief Executive Officer of Maxim Integrated Products, Inc., in Sunnyvale, California. Electronic Business Magazine named Gifford CEO of the Year in 2001. His company is a leading international supplier of quality analog and mixed-signal products for applications that require world signal processing.

ABOUT GREGORY S. ALEXANDER
A ROBERT NOLL PROFESSOR OF LAW
CORNELL LAW SCHOOL

Gregory S. Alexander, a well-known scholar in property law and theory, has been a member of the faculty of Cornell University Law School since 1985. Following his graduation from Northwestern University School of Law in 1973, he clerked on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit. After a year as a Bigelow Fellow at the University of Chicago Law School, Alexander became a professor at the University of Georgia School of Law, where he remained until coming to Cornell in 1984. Professor Alexander has been a Fellow at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Science, in Palo Alto, California, and at the Max-Planck-Institutes for Comparative Law, in Hamburg and Heidelberg, Germany. He has taught at UCLA, Virginia, and Harvard Law Schools, and was the Herbert Smith Distinguished Visiting Fellow at Cambridge University.

Mr. Alexander is a prolific and recognized writer, the winner of the American Publishers Association's 1997 Best Book of the Year in Law award for his work, Commodity and Propriety. His other books include The Global Debate over Constitutional Property: Lessons for American Takings Jurisprudence (Chicago), Community & Property (with Eduardo Peñalver) (Oxford), and Properties of Property (with Hanoch Dagan) (Aspen). His most recent book is An Introduction to Property Theory (with Eduardo Peñalver) (Cambridge).
