Bar Preparation Course

Liam Skilling, BA University of Wisconsin, Madison; JD William S. Richardson School of Law; PhD University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa. Liam is an Associate Faculty Specialist and Director of the Evening Part Time Program and Academic Success. His primary areas of interest and scholarship include education law and policy, civic education, child welfare law, and law school pedagogy and curriculum reform. Director Skilling regularly teaches Equitable Remedies, Interdisciplinary Child Welfare Clinic, and first year and upper division courses in the Legal Writing program. In collaboration with the Ka Huli Ao Center for Excellence in Native Hawaiian Law, he teaches a LSAT Preparation course for prospective students. He is the recipient of the Dean’s Medal for Outstanding Service to the Law School (2008) and the Soifer Award for Social Justice (2014).

Environmental Law Topic

(To Be Determined)

Immigration Law & Policy

John Egan, JD William S. Richardson School of Law; MA University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa; BS University of California at Davis. Prof. Egan is a Visiting Associate Professor of Law and Director of the Refugee & Immigration Law Clinic at Richardson. He served as Chairperson of the American Immigration Lawyers Association, Hawai‘i Chapter in 2008-2009. In the early 1990’s he worked as a Field Officer for the United Nations Refugee Agency, UNHCR, serving in posts in Mozambique and Malawi. At Richardson, Egan directs the Refugee & Immigration Law Clinic, which trains new practitioners in the complex field of immigration, and facilitates access to legal assistance for members of the Hawai‘i immigrant community.

International Business Transactions/Mergers & Acquisitions

Ellen Eichberg, LL.M. is an international corporate attorney and WSRSL-LLM-Alumna (‘04). In her current role as Senior Legal Counsel in the EMEA Legal Team of a global automotive supplier, she leads corporate and M&A transactions in her region. Previously she has held similar positions at mostly US based Fortune 500 companies in different sectors such as industrial construction or the chemical industry. As an M&A-attorney at a German based international business law firm, she advised multinational corporations on large M&A deals. Ellen holds a law degree from the University of Bonn, Germany, a Master of Laws from Richardson and has two Bar admissions at the Cologne / German Bar.
International Ocean Law - Co Taught by Sherry Broder, and Ved Nanda

Ved Nanda, B.A., M.A., Punjab University, India; LL.B., LL.M., Delhi University, India; LL.M., Northwestern University; Graduate Fellow, Yale University. Professor Nanda has taught at the University of Denver since 1965. In addition to his scholarly achievements, he is significantly involved in the global international law community. He is Past President of the World Jurist Association and now its Honorary President, former honorary Vice President of the American Society of International Law and now its counselor, and a member of the advisory council of the United States Institute of Human Rights.

Sherry P. Broder is a complex civil litigation and international law attorney. She was the first woman President of the Hawaii State Bar Association. Ms. Broder has represented Native Hawaiians in their claims for entitlements and defends the constitutionality of their programs. She served as class counsel for the 9,500 victims of torture during the dictatorship of Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos and with the team won a $2 billion verdict, believed to be the largest personal injury verdict in U.S. history. Ms. Broder graduated in 1975 from U.C. Berkeley Law School with highest honors. She is listed in the Best Lawyers in America (Woodward/White publishers).

Mediation Workshop

Tracey Wiltgen, BA Gonzaga University; MS and J.D., University of Hawai`i. Tracey is a Visiting Associate Faculty Specialist at Richardson. She currently oversees daily operations and programs for the Mediation Center of the Pacific, a not-for-profit corporation that serves approximately 5,000 individuals annually. She consults with businesses and other agencies such as the Hawai`i State Judiciary, Hawai`i Civil Rights Commission, the Department of Education, the Federated States of Micronesia and the U.S. Navy Pacific region, to design and develop in-house mediation and dispute resolution programs. Tracey trains individuals in businesses and professional organizations in mediation, facilitation and conflict resolution throughout Hawai`i, the mainland U.S.A. and the Asia-Pacific region including American Samoa, the Federated States of Micronesia and Korea.

Professional Responsibility

Ken Lawson, BA Wittenberg College; JD University of Cincinnati College of Law. Ken Lawson is the Co-Director of the Hawai`i Innocence Project and a Faculty Specialist at Richardson, where he teaches Criminal Procedure, Criminal Law, Professional Responsibility, Evidence, and Hawai`i Innocence Project. He had a successful practice in Cincinnati until his license to practice law was revoked because of misconduct while addicted to prescription painkillers. He pled guilty to the felony of obtaining controlled substances by fraudulent means and was sentenced to 24 months in prison followed by a year of supervised release. Ken started his legal career as an associate in one of Ohio’s oldest and largest law firms. He eventually started his own firm, which grew to 12 lawyers. Over that 18-year period, he was lead counsel in more than a hundred criminal trials, including many murder and capital cases. He also litigated numerous civil rights and police misconduct cases.
Real Property II
Larry Foster, BA University of Washington; PhD University of Washington; JD William S. Richardson School of Law. Dr. Foster is a Professor of Law Emeritus and Former Dean of Richardson. He came to the School of Law as Associate Dean in 1987 after six years in private practice in Honolulu. Before obtaining his legal education, Dr. Foster received a PhD in Chinese Studies and taught Chinese language at the University of Hawai`i, Western Washington State University, and at the University of Washington. He was an East-West Center grantee during law school and served as articles editor of The University of Hawai`i Law Review. Dr. Foster has lived and traveled extensively in Asia. Recent Activities include: President, East-West Center Alumni Association; Member, Governing Council, Inter-Pacific Bar Association; Member, Board of Trustees, Tokai University’s Hawaii campus.

U.S. Territories
Gustavo Gelpi BA, Brandeis University; JD, Suffolk University Law School. Judge Gelpi clerked in the District of Puerto Rico for US District Judge Juan M. Perez Gimenez (1991-1993), and served as Assistant Federal Public Defender (1993-1996). He next worked as Assistant Attorney General at the Puerto Rico Department of Justice (1997-1998), and as Solicitor General of Puerto Rico (1999-2000). He was appointed as a US Magistrate Judge in 2001. In 2006, President Bush appointed him to his current position of US District Judge. As of April, 2018, he has been the Chief Judge for the District of Puerto Rico. For over a decade Judge Gelpi has served as adjunct professor of law at Suffolk Law School, the University of Puerto Rico and Interamerican University, teaching federal criminal practice as well as a seminar on the Constitutional history of US territories. He has authored numerous court opinions on Puerto Rico's territorial status, as well as published several articles about the US Territories. In 2017 Interamerican University published his book The Constitutional Evolution of Puerto Rico and Other US Territories 1898-Present.

Ethics & Integrity in the Real World
Will Weinstein has taught Ethics courses at UH, is presently teaching at San Francisco State University and has given seminars on the subject at prominent universities in Australia, the University of New Mexico, and at the Executive MBA program at Golden Gate University. He has also been active in the financial services business for over forty years. He was Governor of the American Stock Exchange for five years and currently serves as a Financial and Investment Advisor and Money Manager to individuals and corporations active in the equity markets.

Second-Year Seminar
Hazel Beh, BA, University of Arizona; MSW, University of Hawai`i at Mānoa; PhD, University of Hawai`i at Mānoa; JD, William S. Richardson School of Law. Professor Beh joined the law school in 1995 as Acting Associate Dean and joined the faculty in 1996. She taught Contracts, Advanced Torts and Insurance Law, and legal writing. She is a former director of the legal writing program. Her scholarship interests are diverse; she has written articles concerning insurance, bioethics, torts, contracts, and higher education law. In 1998-99, she was selected by students and faculty as Outstanding Professor of the Year. Professor Beh is also a 2000 recipient of the Board of Regents’ Excellence in Teaching Award, the University of Hawai`i’s highest honor for teachers.
Second-Year Seminar

Nicholas Mirkay, LLM with distinction, Georgetown University Law Center; JD, University of Missouri-Columbia; BBA magna cum laude, Saint Louis University; Professor Mirkay joined the Richardson School of Law Faculty in 2017. He arrived from Creighton University School of Law in Omaha, Nebraska where he was a professor for six years, most recently serving as Senior Associate Dean for Administration and Planning. Prior to his tenure at Creighton, Professor Mirkay was an Associate Professor of Law for eight years at the Delaware Law School of Widener University in Wilmington, Delaware. He has primarily taught tax and business law courses, including Federal Income Tax, Trusts & Estates, Nonprofit Organizations, State & Local Tax, and Business Associations. Professor

Externships and Directed Study and Research

Trisha Nakamura

Trisha Y. Nakamura is the Director of Career Services and Professional Development, Director of Externships, and Director of the Pro Bono Program at Richardson School of Law. A proud graduate of Richardson, her passion is supporting law students on their professional paths in the law through collaborative career counseling and rich programming and resources on careers and professional development. Trisha served as a Deputy Public Defender for the State of Hawai‘i for six years where she represented thousands of clients, appearing before the District Courts, Circuit Court, Family Court, and the Hawai‘i Supreme Court in addition to the Hawai‘i Parole Board.