Administrative Law

James R. May is a Professor of Law, co-director of the Environmental Law Center, and Adjunct Professor of Graduate Engineering, at Widener University. He is an academic, a clinic director, a founder and director of two environmental advocacy organizations, a founder and director of a program on marine policy, a federal litigator, and an environmental attorney. He has litigated 200+ public interest environmental claims at levels up to the U.S. Supreme Court. He is the author of four books, PRINCIPLES OF CONSTITUTIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL LAW, GLOBAL ENVIRONMENTAL CONSTITUTIONALISM (with Erin Daly, forthcoming), SHALE GAS AND SUSTAINABILITY (with John Dernbach), and MODERN ADMINISTRATIVE LAW. He has also published more than 70 articles and book chapters relating to environmental and constitutional law.

Criminal Justice

Wes Reber Porter is an Associate Professor of Law and the Director of the Litigation Center at Golden Gate University School of Law. He teaches Evidence, Trial Advocacy, Criminal Law and White Collar Crime in Practice. He has authored two books: Expert Witnesses: Criminal Cases and White Collar Crime: RICO. Prior to teaching, Professor Porter served in the U.S. Navy’s Judge Advocate General Corps (JAG) with the Trial Service Office Pacific in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. He then joined the U.S. Attorney’s Office for the District of Hawaii as an Assistant U.S. Attorney before moving to the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, D.C. as a Senior Trial Attorney in the DOJ’s Criminal Division, Fraud Section. There, he directed prosecutions of securities fraud, Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) offenses and other white collar crimes, including as part of the Enron Task Force.

Ethics & Integrity in the Real World

Will Weinstein has taught Ethics courses at the University of Hawaii, and has given seminars on the subject at prominent universities in Australia, the University of New Mexico, and at the Executive MBA program at Golden Gate University. He has also been active in the financial services business for over forty years. He was Governor of the American Stock Exchange for five years and currently serves as a Financial and Investment Advisor and Money Manager to individuals and corporations active in the equity markets.

Transnational Litigation

John Haley is an internationally renowned scholar of comparative law with a special emphasis on Japan. His works have ranged from historical studies of law in Japan, Hispanic America and medieval Europe to contemporary issues of constitutional adjudication and contract law. Before joining Vanderbilt's law faculty, Professor Haley taught at the University of Washington in Seattle, where he served as director of the Asian Law Program and, briefly, of the Henry M. Jackson School of International Studies. He has also taught in Japan, Germany, Lithuania, Australia and, most recently, China. He is the author or editor of nine books and monographs, including casebooks on comparative law and transnational litigation. Professor Haley’s 2001 book, Antitrust in Germany and Japan: The First Fifty Years, 1947-1998, was the first comparative study of German and Japanese antitrust law in English.
Trusted & Estates

Judy Yuriko Lee is a partner at the law firm of Goodsill Anderson Quinn & Stifel where she concentrates her practice in estate planning, probate, guardianship and trust administration. She has represented clients in establishing wills and trusts, implementing sophisticated estate planning techniques, administering and terminating trust estates and resolving controversies concerning estate administration issues. She has been awarded an AV rating by Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory, has been elected to the prestigious American College of Trust and Estate Counsel and has been recognized with a listing in The Best Lawyers in America since the 2006 edition. She has served as an adjunct professor of law, presented seminars and authored articles on trusts and estates.

---

Second-Year Seminar

Melody K. MacKenzie serves as the Director of Ka Huli Ao Center for Native Hawaiian Law at the William S. Richardson School of Law. Prof. MacKenzie served as a law clerk to Chief Justice William S. Richardson of the Hawai‘i Supreme Court before joining the staff of the Native Hawaiian Legal Corporation, a public interest law firm protecting and advancing the rights of Native Hawaiians. She served as NHLC’s Executive Director and as a senior staff attorney. Prof. MacKenzie is project coordinator and chief editor for the second edition of the Native Hawaiian Rights Handbook, which she originally edited and helped to write. She has worked on cases asserting Hawaiian traditional and customary rights, dealing with land issues, and defending the constitutionality of Hawaiian programs.

---

Second-Year Seminar

Shalanda Baker Associate Professor Shalanda H. Baker teaches corporate law and courses in international development and international economic law. Her research explores issues at the intersection of large energy and infrastructure project development; indigenous rights; and the environment. She served as an Air Force officer prior to her honorable discharge under the “Don't Ask, Don't Tell” policy, and became a vocal advocate for repeal of the policy. Following her graduation from law school, Baker clerked for Justice Roderick Ireland of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court. She also worked as a corporate and project finance associate for Bingham McCutchen LLP, initially in Boston and later in Japan. Baker recently completed a William H. Hastie Fellowship at the University of Wisconsin Law School, where she received her LLM degree.

---

Exterments

Dale W. Lee serves as Director of Professional Development at the William S. Richardson School of Law. He joined the Law School in 2007 after a distinguished career as a Senior Litigation Partner with the Honolulu law firm of Kobayashi Sugita & Goda. In 2004, he served as President of the Hawai‘i State Bar Association and in 2006, as a member of the Board of Governors of the American Bar Association. He has served as a prosecuting attorney and has represented plaintiffs and the defense in tort and commercial litigation in both State and Federal courts. He holds an “AV” (highest rating) Martindale-Hubbell Peer Rating and has been listed in Best Lawyers of America.